At Econ Wealth we send income to clients who need it on a six-month schedule according to client needs. Typically, these income distributions occur in May/June and December/January. As a fiduciary, we believe it is in your best interest to handle income distributions this way for two reasons. Market volatility can put assets at risk; if we send you the cash that you'll need for six months, then that money will be in your bank account when you need it and will not be exposed to market risk. Additionally, by sending you the cash that you'll need, you will not be billed on that amount and therefore you will save money.
